God Songs

In this assignment, students may need access to their music streaming applications. They will be asked to create a playlist of three love songs, which could actually be about or addressing God. Students will need some direction to choose songs that are appropriate.

*Begin the exercise by playing the video recording of Mi Todo by Kairy Marquez (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aUMeSZUA3G8>). Use the Spanish close caption feature first, and then play the song a second time with English close captions. Call on students to share with the large group their reactions to both the music and lyrics. Ask: “Which lyric did you find especially meaningful? How can this song help you to pray?”*

God Songs

Music is a powerful tool we use to express our deepest feelings. Reflect on classic and contemporary songs that you listen to. How do these songs express emotions of anger, jealousy, hope, and love? Upon reflection, you may find that a large portion of your music is actually about human relationships!

Our relationships with friends, family, and romantic interests are made to reflect our relationship with God. We can see this reality reflected in music. Through the right lens, almost any relationship-oriented song could be listened to as if it were about our relationship with God.

Name three songs with lyrics that could describe God and how you relate to him. Print the name of the song. Write a two-sentence explanation of how this song could be about God or your relationship with him. Write a lyric from the song that supports your choice. An example has been completed for you.
